

Frost Included adds measurable value to organizations by helping them deliver diversity and inclusion systemically.

Stephen Frost is a Global Inclusion and Leadership Expert

Inclusive leadership:

How to Develop an Inclusive Mindset and Behavior for Business and Personal Success

There's a simple contradiction in the way leaders manage their people and run their organizations that is too often overlooked; they are addicted to sameness in an age of diversity. That is fundamentally an unsustainable position to be in. Understanding and being adept at inclusive leadership will help leaders thrive in their increasingly diverse environment.

Inclusion is not just about accepting people's differences – it's about leveraging colleagues' and employees' unique experiences and backgrounds, as well as understanding your customers' needs, to drive innovation and results.

Reframe inclusion for leaders to benefit them and the wider organization. Learn from real-world examples and understand what being an inclusive leader looks like.

By attending this session, you will learn how to:

- Learn what inclusive leadership practices are in practice
- Be inspired to find your personal 'why' and become an inclusive leader
- Benefit your organization at large by embedding inclusivity from the top

PROGRAM FORMAT: From a 45-75 minute keynote with Q & A to a half-day workshop

PERFECT AUDIENCE: Chief Diversity Officers and Human Resource department leaders.